Invitation to Participate

Dear Colleagues and Friends:

Queensland Clinical Trials Network Inc. (QCTN) is pleased to invite submissions for topics, themes, speakers and sponsors for the 5th International Conference on Mechanisms of Action of Nutraceuticals (ICMAN5). In particular, we invite submissions from Asia-Pacific based organisations and institutes. The conference will be held in Brisbane, Queensland, Australia, 13-15 October 2011.

QCTN is a not-for-profit, incorporated industry group of world-class preclinical and clinical trial providers who service the nutraceutical, biopharma and medical devices industries, in order to demonstrate a product's safety and efficacy - and in order to satisfy Regulatory bodies and global markets alike.

It is this core mission of our members and our organisation that has helped us identify and seek to align our future with an organisation such as ICMAN. ICMAN's basic talent of exploring the mechanisms of action of nutraceutical products fits consistently with QCTN's philosophies and therefore made it a simple decision for us to seek to be appointed to host ICMAN5.

We see that our collaborative efforts to bring the conference to the Asia-Pacific region; as well as our extensive network of affiliates throughout the region; provide an excellent opportunity for ICMAN to establish an Asia-Pacific presence, co-hosted with QCTN.

The Asia-Pacific market accounted for 44% of global nutraceutical sales in 2006, compared to 32% for North America and 14% for Western Europe. Within Australia, the estimated worth of complementary medicines and nutraceuticals industry is AUD 1 billion, of which Queensland accounts for well over half.

Queensland is at the vanguard of complementary medicine research with the necessary state-of-the-art research and development (R&D) infrastructure and the required scientific expertise and collaborations to run specialist trials.

I look forward to welcoming you to sunny Queensland – the Smart State - in October 2011.
